Preview: Convention of Jehovah's Witnesses Details Bible Principles to Help Reduce Anxiety

MEDOLE (MN) — On Friday morning, Jehovah's Witnesses will begin their three-day convention in Twi language (Ghana) at their Assembly Hall in Medole via Crocevia 40. The Witnesses are extending an open invitation to attend the program that will examine Jesus' words: "Keep on, then, seeking first the Kingdom". The program will also feature how this advice given thousands of years ago can provide practical benefits in today's world, such as reducing anxiety in one's life. A special feature will be the concluding part on Sunday afternoon, "'Never Be Anxious' -Keep Seeking First God's Kingdom."

Jehovah's Witnesses invite people of all ages to attend the "Keep Seeking First God's Kingdom!" Convention. The program sessions will begin at 9:20 am on all three days of the convention. Admission is free. Conventions of Jehovah's Witnesses are supported entirely by voluntary donations.
